Like it or not, we often have to take exams. Here are some advice to help you to prepare for your next exam.

First, you should study hard for the exam and practise the questions, so there are no surprises on the day.

Second, you don't have to study all night before the exam! It's a good idea to finish studying early in the evening and do something different, and then you should have a good night's sleep—at least eight hours. It's also important for you to eat lots of fresh fruit and vegetables.

Third, you mustn't arrive late on the day, and you must try to relax. Look at the time and make sure you know how long you have for each part of the exam.

听力部分到此结束,请将答案写在答题纸上。
